Statement of CPNI Procedures and Compliance
For 2007
Harbor Communications, LLC

Harbor Communications, LLC is a small CLEC operating in three states, providing basic local service and/or long distance services to a small group of customers.

We use CPNI to market services to our customers and notify our customers of their right to restrict use of, disclosure, and access to their CPNI, prior to asking for approval to use CPNI. We obtain customer opt-in approval on a per inbound call basis. When a customer calls in, prior to accessing CPNI, our customer representatives advise customers of their rights regarding confidentiality of and access to CPNI and then request permission to access that CPNI to verify information relative to the call and to recommend services and establishes and maintains records establishing proof that approval was obtained. Our customer service record indicates the status of each customer's CPNI approval status. The flag in the customer service record is currently defaulted to "N" meaning "No, the customer has not approved use of access to CPNI."

We do not conduct any outbound marketing campaigns that involve CPNI at this time. Should we elect to do so in the future, we will follow the applicable rules set forth in 47 CFR Subpart U, including the institution of operational procedures to ensure that notification is provided and customer opt-out approval is obtained before CPNI is used or disclosed, and compliance with the requirement to maintain records of such marketing.

We have put into place processes to safeguard our customers' CPNI and call detail information from improper use or disclosure by employees; and to discover and protect against attempts by third parties to gain unauthorized access to customer CPNI. CPNI may only be disclosed to the contact of record for an account. CPNI may only be mailed to the contact of record at the address of record or released to the contact of record pursuant to valid photo identification.

All employees are trained on proper and improper disclosure and the consequences (potential fines and disciplinary measures) associated with improper disclosure. Customer service and provisioning representatives as well as our sales force and field technicians are trained semi-annually on access to and appropriate handling of CPNI. All other Harbor personnel receive training on an annual basis.

To date, we have never had occasion where it became necessary to provide CPNI to a third party other than via a court-issued subpoena. In each instance, a record is maintained and kept in a locked file.

We do not provide call detail information over the telephone.

We do not currently provide on-line access to CPNI. If we elect to do so in the future, we will follow the applicable rules set forth in 47 CFR Subpart U, including the implementation of authentication procedures that do not require the use of readily available biographical information.

We do allow in-store access to CPNI once the customer has presented a valid photo ID that matches his/her account information.

Although we have not experienced any breaches of CPNI to date, we have procedures in place to notify law enforcement in the event of a breach of customers' CPNI and to ensure that customers are not notified of the breach before the time period set forth in the FCC's rules, or, if applicable, when so authorized by law enforcement.

We have not experienced any breaches of CPNI to date, but will maintain records, either written or electronic, of any and all breaches discovered and notifications made to the USSS and the FBI, and to customers.

We have not taken any actions against data brokers in the last year.

We did not receive any customer complaints about the unauthorized release of CPNI or the unauthorized disclosure of CPNI in calendar year 2007.

We do not have any information with respect to the processes Pretexters are using to attempt to access CPNI.
